MISUSE OF IDENTIFICATION CARD POLICY

In following Student Conduct Regulations 576-015-0020: The University my initiate disciplinary action and impose sanctions against any student, University recognized student organization, or academic department group which commits the following proscribed act:

(6) Falsification or misuse of any University information, including records, permits, documents, computer resources, identification cards, etc.; or the furnishing of false or misleading information to the University or its representative; or refusal to provide one’s name, class, school, and local address when requested by a University official, provided the official is identified and indicates legitimate reason for the request.

Rules and Regulations

1. The Student Identification Card is the property of Oregon State University.
2. The card is non-transferable, including the use of the card for Stored Value & Credit account transactions.
3. Misuse of the card subjects those involved to confiscation of the identification card and to possible University disciplinary action and/or legal action which could include the following:
   a. Denied admission to OSU events and the use of University facilities.
   b. The fraudulent use of the student identification card by an individual who has previously been enrolled, but who is not enrolled when using the card on campus, will result in the confiscation of the card by the University and will subject the user to legal action.
   c. If the card is misused or transferred to another person by a student, it will be confiscated.
      i. Cards that have been confiscated will be forwarded to the ID Center.
      ii. The confiscated card will be held in the ID Center. The student will be charged an ID Card Misuse Fine of $25 to their student account. The student will need to come to the ID Center to pick up the confiscated card.
      iii. A second offense will result in a referral to student conduct for further investigation.
4. Students who believe that their card has been wrongfully impounded may present their case to the ID Center within seven days of confiscation.
   a. After the student has been given full opportunity to present the facts, a decision will be made by the ID Card Appeal Committee.
   b. If the ID Card Appeal Committee determines that the student’s case is valid, the ID Card Misuse Fine will be reversed and refunded if already paid by the student.
